

CATARACT SURGERY SPECIALIST

Florida Eye Microsurgical Institute Welcomes Dr. Jonathan S. Criss

Jonathan S.
Criss, M.D.

Medical Center, moved to Boca Raton with his wife. He is an affiliate assistant professor at Florida Atlantic University's Charles E. Schmidt College of Medicine and was named a New York "Super Doctors" Rising Star in 2013 and 2014.

Dr. Criss takes pride in educating patients about their ocular conditions and involving them and their family members in weighing the appropriate treatment possibilities.

"It is very important to me to treat patients like I would treat family," he says.

Florida Eye uses the most current technical equipment, which enables its physicians and staff to offer the optimum in eye

The outstanding vision care experts at Florida Eye Microsurgical Institute welcome Jonathan S. Criss, M.D. to their practice.

A board-certified ophthalmologist and cataract surgery specialist, Dr. Criss joins Florida Eye after several years in successful private practice in Manhattan. Dr. Criss, who also speaks Spanish, provides complete medical and surgical ophthalmologic care, with particular expertise in small-incision "no-shot" cataract surgery. He implants high-technology lenses and is skilled at laser procedures for "after-cataract" and glaucoma, correction of eyelid abnormalities, and evaluation of systemic diseases that affect the eye, such as diabetes and high blood pressure.

“ It is very important to me to treat patients like I would treat family. ”

"Patients can have a range of eye conditions which make their cataract surgery complex; I have significant experience managing such situations," says Dr. Criss, a native of New York City who graduated Summa Cum Laude, Phi Beta Kappa from Yale University. Dr. Criss, who attended the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and performed his residency at Stanford University care, from comprehensive eye exams to serious surgical procedures. Located right within the Institute is the Boynton Beach Ambulatory Surgical Center, where outpatient surgical procedures are performed.

"Florida Eye has always been known for providing excellent care and putting the patient first," says Dr. Criss. "I look forward to continuing this strong legacy, while expanding the practice's expertise and offerings."

FLORIDA EYE
MICROSURGICAL INSTITUTE

JONATHAN S.
CRISS, M.D.

SPECIALTIES

Medical and Surgical Ophthalmology

Refractive Cataract Surgery

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

Stanford University Medical Center Residency

University of Pennsylvania
School of Medicine

Yale University

Diplomate, American Board of Ophthalmology

American Academy of Ophthalmology

Palm Beach County
Ophthalmology Society

LOCATIONS

9980 Central Park Boulevard
Suite 204
Boca Raton, FL 33428
561-737-5500
fleyedocs.com

Offices in Boynton Beach,
Wellington and Juno Beach

MEDICAL PROFILES

